20th Annual Poetry Slam!

DC SCORES, a community institution known for artfully fusing soccer leagues with spoken word performances to help kids in need develop the confidence and skills to succeed, will host its 20th annual Poetry Slam! November 16-17. The Poetry Slam! is FREE and open to the public.

The Slam! will feature over 1,200 powerful young voices from 47 DC public and public charter elementary and middle schools across the District. Poet-athletes ages 8-14 will perform both team and individual poems. The young poet-athletes' original works address the most pressing and current issues facing their communities, including racial and gender equality, immigration, identity, bullying, and social justice.

Celebrity judges and accomplished professional poets will score each poem on content, originality, and performance -- crowning two team and two individual winners each night. Local politicians, DCPS leaders, and D.C. United celebrities will be on hand to celebrate all of the performers and present the awards.
